Following is information to assist individuals whose family member may have submitted a claim to the Flint water settlement but who has passed away since the time the claim was submitted.

1. I think my now deceased family member submitted a claim. How do I find out?

To obtain information about your deceased relative's Flint Water Settlement claim, you will need to provide your relative's full name and date of birth. You will be asked to confirm your relationship. You can submit any probate documents, or a death certificate, or a published obituary that names you as a relative.

2. If a payment is awarded to a deceased individual, what happens to the payment?

The settlement payment will be issued to the approved legal representative of the deceased individual. The legal representative is a person who has been appointed by a court to represent the interests of the estate of the deceased person or a person who is related and who submits a signed and notarized Michigan probate form called an Affidavit of Decedent's Successor along with the death certificate.
